Subject:A2(2) How 'gradual and orderly progress' should be understood

    Move To:

Dear sir/madam,

I think election of CE by one citizen one vote or general election should not take place until the year 2017. This is because people are not ready for such forms of election. This could be reflected in the regional election taken place in November 2003. Many voters made their votes not knowing what exactly the performance of their voters members. They voted according to political parties the candidates belong.

Such voting behaviour reflected that people did not care regional council members performance, but their party belongings. This behaviour is immature.

Until people become much more mature. One man one vote or general election other than the one being used should not be implemented in 2007/2008.
