Subject: A1(3) The Chief Executive (CE) is appointed by the CPG. He is accountable to both the CPG and the HKSAR

Move To:

Yes, it is absolutely true that the Chief Executive (CE) should be accountable to both the Central People's Government (CPG) and the Hong Kong Special Administration Region. The argument is that CE's office and source of administrative authority comes from the CPG, as soon as CE has been appointed by CPG after election by the Election Committee composed of 800 members coming from various stratum of our society.

Subject: A2(1) What should 'actual situation' constitute

    Move To:

To my understanding, 'actual situation' should refer to the condition when all the voters in HKSAR have the general wisdom to select the Chief Executive or members of the Legislative Council that best represents the benefits of the HKSA, before universal suffrage can be applied. In my opinion, a majority of the voters only vote for the candidates who vigorously oppose the HKSAR Government. This could be reflected in the District Council Election conducted last year that Democratic Party swept a majority of the seats, even though some of them have little or even no experience in the districts they fought for. Their successes were very much relied on the influence of the massive demonstration on 1.7.2003 organized by the Democratic Party.
