>99% of HK citizens are proud of being Chinese and do not want to be independent. We have no concept of our own country for so many years already. Unity is definitely our historical responsibility. Deng Siu Ping is so wise and open to raise the concept of 'one country two system'.

I have no objection about this statement with the principle of one country and two system.

Merchants ( who are the main speakers and most outspoken persons in this era) say that it should corresponds to the economic situation of HK. However, they usually get the most in whatever situations that are beneficial to HK. For middle and lower class citizens, they usually get benefits much less and late and most importantly lose more whenever there is anything bad in economy. Thus, with the experience in past 6 years, we need to change the present condition by letting the majority of HK people( middle and lower class) to decide their fate with legal rights, that is the voting mechanism to choose their leaders. These 6 years are already 循序漸進 according to most HK people for readiness of democracy!

兼顧社會各階層的利益 should be always the goal for policy in all times. However, its change and balance will be determined by the present condition and the voices and the demand of the HK people. Who should be the final one to determine such balance? In a developed international cities like HK, it should be the HK citizens themselves!

It is really determined by the quality of the ruling of the leader and the government. If we have a wise and talented leader, there is no urge for democracy as we can enjoy the good policy. However, it takes the risk for any harm that it will cause which is unavoidable in reality. That is what we experience in the past 6 years. I am thinking that probably the only possibility to slow down this urge for democracy is to change the present governor as soon as possible. And then everyone can sit down to talk about other components of the democratic development of HK in a condition of no ruling crisis.
