I totally agree with the present method of electing the Chief Executive and the Legislative Council Members and I do not think that it is a good idea to implement election of the CE by the general public in 2007.

The reason is that the pace of constitutional reform should not be too quick as I don't think that majority of HK citizen are familiar with the rules and politic. Most of them are still superficial and easily manipulated and it is not good to the future of HK.
