Dear Sir,

I object the idea of universal suffrage at this stage.

The educational level and understanding of democracy is still low among most of the Hong Kong citizens. The number of lower social class is always more than the business class and professionals. If every citizen has the same right to cast one vote, Hong Kong will become a welfare society. Everyone asks for welfare, but no one cares how we generate the wealth.

We should care the welfare of the whole society, not the welfare of oneself. We need a leader with vision and leadership. We cannot let the grassroots lead us.

I object decrease the number of functional constituencies in Legistrative Council.

Ho Sze Yuen
