Subject:Simple is beautiful!

Move To:

Dear Sir/ Madam:

I do love H. K. very much really. I think that as regard to any amendment for the 07 & 08 elections, basically, simple is beautiful!

Anyway, a series of suggestions I would like to express. Hopefully may it be significantly available to you honourable. From Mr. YUEN

1) For the formulation of the election committee for 07 election of the office of C. E., ALL nearby 300 district councillors from directly elected way (not for appointed ones) should be accommodated into it. With about 100 members from other sectors, a new election committee with members up to 1,200 from original 800 can be formed.

2) For the Legislative council election in 08, I think that the total number of seats should be increased to 70, from the original 60 arrangement. ----- In the category of Geographical constituency, it should split New Territories West to 2: NTW & New Territories South. That means, up to 6 areas rather than original 5 ones will be formed. ----- As for functional constituency, I think that NO change for the original 30 seats with their electorate bases is an arrangement which seem much simply appropriate and viable! However, it should add 5 new seats for the functional constituency. The electorate bases for those 5 new seats will be considerably greater than in respect of the original 30 ones. Therefore, from macro-perspective, a new function constituency with 35 seats & broader electorate base in average can be formed.

3) Apparently most Hong Kong people prefer that having universal suffrages for the both elections of Chief Executive & all seats in the Legislative Council as soon as possible. So, I think that the 5 Report of you honourable The Task Force of Constitutional Development should really bravely bear the accountability to announce the "Promise", that the elections of Chief Executive for 7/2012, AND all seats in the Legislative Council launching from 10/2012, will both be formed by universal suffrages. ----- This Promise can be on one side NOT contravene the Decision of the NPCSC, and on the other side comply with the obviously strong democratic requirement of the mode of H K people. Thanks.
